

Professional Advice Disclaimer

The content provided by The Elara Institute is for educational and informational purposes only. Although Meghan Maynard is a registered psychotherapist, she is not providing clinical services or therapy through this platform. Participation in courses, workshops, or coaching programs does not create a therapeutic relationship.

These offerings are not a substitute for professional mental health care, diagnosis, or treatment. If you are in crisis or require clinical support, please contact a qualified mental health professional or crisis service in your area.